Basically, it is possible to visit our website without providing any personal data.

For better performance and to guarantee our website's functionality, we process the data transmitted to us by your Internet browser. These include the date and time of your visit, browser settings, the operating system and the IP address.

To process a motorhome booking, we need your name, address, age of the driver, contact information such as an email address or a phone number, credit card or bank information. In order to be able to guarantee certain offers, we may need your date of birth, driving licence and ID information.

To send you information and offers via our newsletter, we require your email address.

4. Recipients or Categories of Recipients

Motorhome bookings are handled by our mother company Auto Europe LLC, a US-based company headquartered in Portland, ME 04112, USA. We also reserve the right to transfer your data to debt collection agencies and business protection organizations (such as credit investigation companies).

It is possible that the recipients of the data may be located in countries outside the European Economic Area (third countries) where the applicable law does not offer a comparable level of data protection. In such cases, Auto Europe ensures that an adequate level of data protection is guaranteed in other ways.

5. Data Security

To protect your privacy, all booking inquiries and related payment transactions that reach us through our website are processed with HTTPS secure encryption using state of the art encryption (SSL / TLS). You will know that your browser uses this secure transmission as it is indicated by the Internet address beginning with "https" and a small lock symbol (usually) displayed in the address bar of your browser window. When the lock is closed, it is a safe transfer. Some browsers show the address bar or part of it in green colour for this case. (Please note that these security settings are only available on pages where you can see and send your request or submit your credit card details).
